

HARRY WADE TO BE HERE TONIGHT

Chairman of Knights of Pythias Indiana Home Committee to Speak at Banquet Here

DEFINITE WORD RECEIVED

Coming Affairs Rushville Community Opportunity to "Sell" Itself on The Home Project

Definite assurance that Harry Wade, chairman of the Knights of Pythias Indiana home committee, will be at the banquet to start the campaign to locate the home here, was received this morning and preparations were continued for accommodating at least one hundred men at the dinner.

It will be served in the basement of the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church by the ladies of the church and arrangements have been made for only one hundred persons, as indications were today that no more than this number of tickets would be sold.

While Mr. Wade will come for the purpose of explaining the plans of the Knights of Pythias grand lodge, it was pointed out today by leaders in the campaign that the real value in Mr. Wade's coming is the opportunity it affords Rushville to "sell" the community to the lodge official.

Although a cash consideration will figure in locating the home, other factors will enter when the final selection of a site is made, it has been stated repeatedly.

The banquet, it is believed, will give citizens of the community a chance to show Mr. Wade that they are interested in the project and would like to have the location designated somewhere in the vicinity of Rushville.

Mr. Wade has been visiting all communities of the state, but is tiding for the home and he will report back to the general committee his reactions regarding the various bidders. Thus, it will be seen that his influence in selecting the home site will be very great because he is constantly in touch with the campaigns being carried on at many points in Indiana.

It was stated today that even a cash offer will have some weight in deciding on a site, the lodge would not probably locate its home very far from the central section of the state, within easy access of Indianapolis, and that the surroundings for such an institution would have to meet a test as to citizenship, soil fertility and rail connections.

Those who are enthusiastic over the location of the home point out that the Rushville community can meet all of the qualifications for a home site, if a satisfactory sum can be raised as a bonus to bring the home here.

Rushville has splendid rail facilities, good state roads leading in all directions, is within easy reach of Indianapolis, has plenty of prospective sites close to the city that are endowed with soil well adapted for truck gardening and diversified farming. And in addition, it was pointed out by many today, a wholesome atmosphere created by a high type of citizenship abounds in the community, making it ideal for an institution of the character the Knights of Pythias lodge proposes to build.

NEW MEMBERS ARE INITIATED

Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity Prepares for Fall Activities

The Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity initiated four new members Monday evening, and reinstated one former member. The new members are Leroy Mackley, Alonzo Moore, Arthur Wilson and Fred Casady. Glen Russell, who was a former member of the fraternity, was reinstated. This was the first time the local chapter ever conferred the work on pledges.

Following the initiation a business session was held and the fraternity made arrangements for their fall activities, including dances and a moving picture show, which they will sponsor. The club rooms in North Main street, have been refurbished and are ready for use by all the members of the organization.

TWO NEW SUITS ARE

Routine Matters Come up in Circuit Court Today

Only the routine of court business was before Judge Sparks this morning, with attorneys offering arguments on cases pending trial, and with no action set for a hearing. A state case is set for Thursday, which may require the services of the jury for the first time in the fall term.

Among the new business in court are two complaints. The Stark Brothers Nursery Company has filed suit against Curtis A. Wagoner, the demand being for $75 on a note. In the other suit Orloena B. Wagoner is plaintiff and James F. Haney, defendant, the cause of action being for the dissolution of a partnership, sale of the property involved, and for the appointment of a receiver.

PUPILS DOWN TO BUSINESS TODAY

Complete Sessions Held in all Rushville Schools Today, Following Opening on Monday

ENROLLMENT ON INCREASE

First Day Listing of 1918 Will be Increased to 1,050 Before the End of the Month

The Rushville schools got down to business today following the opening day Monday when pupils gathered to enroll and meet the teachers, and the enrollment today continued to increase as almost each grade had newcomers who had failed to register on the opening day.

The enrollment on Monday was 1,018 and this number will reach 1,050 by the end of the month, it was expected today.

The opening session of the high school Monday was accompanied by all the zeal and enthusiasm characteristic of youth. Dean Walker was in charge during the assembling period. David McIntosh, supervisor of music, conducted a peppy group of community songs. L. A. Lockwood, the new high school principal was then introduced. He was greeted by an ovation of cheers and applause from the student body.

Mr. Lockwood responded in a brief address in which he expressed his good will toward the student body and his appreciation of the responsibilities that he is assuming as principal of the Rushville high school. Mr. Lockwood then took charge of the opening exercises and introduced each of the new teachers.

Miss Helen Jaehue then responded with two delightful vocal numbers. Supt. H. B. Allman gave a short talk in which he welcomed the students back to the school after the vacation of three and one half months. He spoke of the changes in the high school departments, and told of the progress made toward the completion of the new gymnasium. He emphasized the need for that well balanced development involved in physical, mental, moral and spiritual growth.

Mr. McIntosh then led the school in singing the high school song. The school then took up the detail problems of enrollment and calling of classes on a ten minute interval closed the work of the morning for the high school.

In each grade school appropriate opening exercises preceded the formal enrollment and distribution of book lists. During the morning Mrs. Allie Aldridge, president of the board of education, and H. B. Allman, superintendent, visited all of the grade rooms.

He has not received the complete list and awards from the state fair officials, but in the tray display, he was first in Ben Davis and first in Baldwin, and second with Grimes. The two firsts carried $5 awards, the second place $3.00 and he also received $3 for each of the following: Stayman winesap, Rainbow and Oldenburg.

He was also awarded first place for Shropshire Dawson and first place for Moore's Arctic plants.

NO APPLICATION FOR PARDON

None Made to President by Department of Justice for McCray

Washington, Sept. 15.—Application for a pardon for former Governor Warren T. McCray has not been made by the department of justice to President Coolidge, it was learned at the White House today.

So the president does not have to prejudge the case before it comes to him, he is of the opinion that very strong evidence would be required to show that the executive clemency was desired in the case, it was said. McCray is serving a sentence in Atlanta penitentiary for fraud.

SAYS MINERS WILL WIN

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 15.—Victory for the anthracite coal miners after a lengthy strike, was predicted by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor in an address before delegates of the railway carmen's convention here. Green declared it was possible for operators to grant higher wages and improved working conditions without increasing the price of coal.

DESTINED TO BECOME ONE OF UNSOLVED CRIMES

Murder of Mrs. C. B. Cook, Benton County (Iowa) Temperance Crusader, Not Near Solution

HUSBAND IS A WITNESS

Vinton, Iowa, Sept. 15.—(U.P.)—The murder of Mrs. C. B. Cook, Benton county temperance crusader today seemed destined for a place with Iowa's unsolved crimes.

After hearing the testimony of Clifford Cook, husband of the slain W. C. T. U. president and that of George Buchanan, Waterloo salesman, Coroner C. L. Modlin adjourned the inquest indefinitely for lack of evidence Monday. Further investigation of remote clues will be conducted but authorities intimated that solution seemed impossible.

Buchanan corroborated Cook's previous testimony. He said he was at Grundy Center, a town 40 miles from Vinton, on the night of the murder and that Cook was registered at a Grundy Center hotel that night. He said he knew Cook's automobile was parked in front of the hotel between the hours of eight and eleven o'clock and that so far as he knew it remained there the balance of the night.

Cook had testified that he knew nothing of his wife's death until he drove into Vinton the following morning.

Several minor witnesses were examined and the inquest then adjourned.

BEER HEADED FOR SEWER

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 15.—Two carloads of beer enroute from Lawrence Mass., to Morton's Grove, Ill., were headed for the sewer today following an order of destruction issued because the custodian of the Federal Building here declined to store it. Three federal agents seized the shipment in the transfer yards of the Indiana Harbor Belt line.

NOT BODY OF DUTCH ANDERSON

Postoffice Inspector Makes Report on Examination in Iowa

Washington, Sept. 15.—The postoffice department was advised today by one of its inspectors at Dubuque Iowa, that the body of a man found there was not that of George "Dutch" Anderson, pal of the notorious Gerald Chapman.

The inspector attempted to make identification from finger prints and scars that Anderson is known to have carried. Other postal inspectors familiar with Anderson's features are still on their way to Dubuque to make more complete investigation before official announcement that the body is not Anderson.

DESCRIBES TOUR OF THE OLD WORLD

Miss Mary Sleeth, City Librarian, Describes European Trip in Addresses Before Rotary Club

GLAD TO BE BACK HOME AGAIN

Has Feeling That Rushville and Rush County are Best in World Upon Return

The old world offers many beautiful sights and amusing and new experiences, but after all, there is no place like the United States of America, according to Miss Mary Sleeth, city librarian, who spoke to the Rotary club today noon regarding a three months tour of Europe during the summer.

Miss Sleeth briefly alluded to the various countries through which she traveled with a party conducted by Miss Henrietta Coleman of this city, but said that after landing in Quebec and going to Detroit, she felt like she was in the most beautiful place she had seen.

"When I woke up and saw Union City, it was like coming back home again," she said, "and when I got back to Rush county and Rushville, I decided that right here is the best place on earth and that my neighbors and friends were better than any in the world."

Harlan Overleese of Anderson township sang three vocal solos, with piano accompaniment by his daughter, Miss Helen Overleese, and received a hearty ovation from the Rotarians.

Harry G. Francis urged Rotarians to attend the dinner tonight at St. Paul's M. E. church, when the Knights of Pythias home campaign will be started.

The Rev. John T. Scull described his experiences in attending the Rotary meeting at Jeffersonville, last week, while attending the Indiana conference of the Methodist church.

Hugh E. Manz, who was responsible for the program today, presided and introduced Mr. Overleese and his daughter and Miss Sleeth.

Miss Sleeth said that she visited seven countries and gathered hurriedly her impressions, which might be changed if she should go back.

"The thing that interested me most," she stated, "was the people—their manners and customs and how they differed from ours."

She described the mosquito-like engines that draw the European trains. Miss Sleeth said the fields of France looked like stripes of ribbon because they are so small and represent so many shades of coloring. The houses in France, she said, are most picturesque, with their studio finish and thatched roofs, but all wonderfully clean and wonderfully beautiful because there are flowers everywhere.

Miss Sleeth declared she had a feeling while in Paris that the noted wickedness of the city was staged for tourists because guides were always ready for a certain sum to show Americans how wicked their people were. She commented on the jammed traffic in Paris, where no traffic laws are in force.

The speaker praised the Italians for their generosity and kindness, but said ignorant, superstitious and "very, very dirty." She described Rome as being very dingy, and said that the farther south one went in Italy, the worse living conditions among the people were.

Miss Sleeth said Venice looked very much like the "drip" that formed today at the city hospital.

WISCONSIN GOES TO POLLS TODAY

State That Gave LaFollette to National Politics to Decide on His Successor

SON SEEKS THE MANTLE

New York Voters Will Decide by Ballot Most Hotly Contested Primary in City's History

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 15.—(U.P.)—The state that gave Robert M. LaFollette to national politics went to the polls today to decide whether the banner of its deceased senator shall be carried on by his son or be buried under a conservative.

Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., aspiring to his father's vacant seat in the United States senate, is opposed by four anti-LaFollette candidates in today's Republican primary. "Young Bob" has the endorsement and support of Governor John Blaine and others of his father's political adherents.

Foremost of LaFollette's opponents, according to Wisconsin political observer, is Roy P. Wilcox, selected as the conservative standard bearer at a recent "Coolidge Republican" convention at Oshkosh. Wilcox is supported by Senator Irvine Lenroot, an avowed Coolidge loyalist. Virtually every policy of the national Republican administration is included in Wilcox's platform.

There are three other anti-LaFollette candidates with slightly varying platforms however, and LaFollette enthusiasts are confident that the so-called conservative vote will be so split up between the four that "young Bob" will win the party nomination.

The statement made in Washington last night by Senator William Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, declaring that LaFollette will not receive the support of the national party organization—even if he wins the Republican nomination—was viewed with satisfaction by campaign members of the four LaFollette opponents. They predicted that the voters would rally to defeat young Bob rather than to have Wisconsin "out in the cold" and excluded from the confidence of the national party organization.

This was the keynote of the conservative convention at Oshkosh—elect a man who will be admitted to party politics and who will support President Coolidge.

LaFollette was silent when informed of Butler's statement except to say that he was "not worried." In addition to Wilcox, LaFollette's primary opponents are Francis E. McGovern, former governor, Arthur Barry, carrying a "wet" plank; and Daniel Woodard, supported by the Ku Klux Klan.

In the Democratic primary, William George Bruce carries the endorsement of a recent state wide Democratic convention but there has been a growing movement to defeat him because of his refusal to endorse the League of Nations and world court. Other names may be written in.

Despite the enthusiasm of the campaign, a record vote was not anticipated and threats of rain over the state further reduced the prospect. Continued on Page Two

LEIBER'S SALARY IS SLASHED

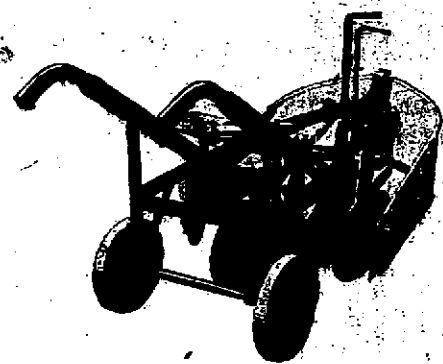

Conservation Commission Acts on Account of Old Fund

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 15.—(U.P.)—Slash cuts in the salary of Richard Leiber, director of the state conservation department and two of his assistants, were ordered at a secret meeting of the conservation commission last week, it was learned today.

Friends of Leiber declared the action was the culmination of a long standing feud of Leiber and William A. Guthrie, chairman of the commission.

Leiber's salary was cut from $6,000 to $4,000. That of George Mannfeld, superintendent of the fish and game division was cut from $4,000 to $3,000 and that of Charles Sauer, assistant to Leiber from $3,000 to $2,400.

WATSON AGREES WITH NEWSPAPERS

Wishes With Indiana Editors in Their Struggle Against Income Tax Publicity

ONLY ENCOURAGES DOUBT

President's Vacation Noted
R. West Watson on Farm—His
Washington Notes

(Special to The Daily Republican)
Washington, Sept. 15—It is generally agreed by the press of the country that no good purpose is served by the law permitting publication of income tax returns. Most certainly the publicity is of no aid to the government in the collection of the taxes. On the other hand much harm comes to business, a person's affairs being exposed to its rivals. Neighborhood gossip also is encouraged. The New York World, Democratic, is among the newspapers urging repeal though it was a champion of Democratic members of Congress and their radical La Follette associates that forced the publicity clause into the law. The Democratic Senator of Indiana was among those who voted for publicity. However, Senator Watson, the senior Indiana Senator and assistant leader of the Senate, voted against the publicity clause and is in favor of its repeal. He is in agreement with the declaration of the Indiana Republican Editorial Association that the clause should be removed.

The senior Indiana Senator, Watson, was one of only five Senators who were summoned to Swampscott to confer with the President while he was spending the summer at the Massachusetts resort. The President was anxious to have Senator Watson's view on legislative questions and also desired to familiarize himself with the Indiana political situation in which he has expressed interest from time to time. The Coolidge Watson conference of railroad mergers question was the topic for editorial comment in the metropolitan press of the east.

Representative Vestal has returned to his home at Anderson, Indiana, after spending a few days in Washington on official business. It is likely that Mr. Vestal will return to Washington in advance of the convening of Congress in December because he is a member of the committee which will assign Republican members to the various committees of the House. Besides being a member of this important committee, Mr. Vestal is the whip of the House, and a good one, too.

Spending the summer away from the hot weather of Washington has served as a fine tonic for the President. Mr. Coolidge has gained some weight and his complexion shows him to be the picture of health. He is in fine trim for the hard work that is ahead of him when Congress begins its long grind.

"Do the day's work," is a maxim with President Coolidge. He applies himself to the daily job. He is not one to put off till tomorrow that which can be done today. He clears his desk every day. Though he was supposed to be on a vacation, he continued to work every day he was away. However, he got the benefit that comes from a change of climate.

Representative Will R. Wood, Tenth Indiana District, known here as one of the hardest working members of Congress, was worn to a frazzle at the end of the last session, but he is again in Jack Dempsey trim as a result of spending a couple of days each week this summer in working on a farm. His muscles are as hard as nails and his skin is a deep tan.

Business conditions are on the upgrade. Throughout the summer months, the dull period of the year, business has been better than a year ago, but now that fall is approaching there is every prospect of a really important gain in business. Incidentally, the farmer's economic condition, compared with the past few years, is distinctly better.

Indiana always has quality corn—an Indiana farmer most always wins the grand prize at the Chicago corn show. But this time our farmers will have corn in quantity as well as quality. "I never saw Indiana corn look so good. A bumper crop surely is in prospect," observed Senator Watson when in Washington the other day.

ATTEMPT TO LIMIT INTERURBAN SPEED

Citizens of Edgewood, Suburb of Indianapolis, Aroused by Fatal Crossing Accident

THREE INSTANTLY KILLED

Frank Skinner, Street Car Motorman, and Two Children Struck by Interstate Car

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 15.—(U.P.)—Aroused by another crossing accident which cost three lives, citizens of Edgewood a suburb, today sought to limit speed of interurban cars between Indianapolis and Greenwood.

Frank Skinner, 42, a street car motorman, and two of his children, Lucille, 8, and James, 6, were the victims of the latest crossing tragedy in the Edgewood neighborhood.

Skinner started to a drug store to buy a newspaper while his wife washed the dishes last night. The two children climbed in the car with him for the ride.

A few hundred yards from his home, Skinner swung on to the tracks of the Interstate Public Service interurban line in front of a Louisville limited.

The limited tossed the auto fifty feet and the gasoline tank exploded spraying the side of the interurban with flaming fluid and setting the wreckage of the auto on fire.

The bodies of the three victims were thrown clear of the wreckage and were not burned. That of the boy was tossed nearly 100 feet down the tracks.

A woman who saw the accident, said the motorman of the interurban whistled repeatedly for the crossing but that Skinner made no move to check his speed.

Death of Skinner and his children brings the total of grade crossing accidents in the vicinity to twenty within the past four years.

At a mass meeting at the Edgewood school house last night a committee was appointed to ask traction officials and the police accident prevention bureau to limit speed of the interurbans to twenty five miles an hour between Indianapolis and Greenwood.

Persons living along the road declared the cars sometimes pass at a speed of sixty or seventy miles an hour.

Traction officials pointed out that the view of the crossing is good.

Miss Sleeth related a conversation she had with an Australian woman who had traveled extensively in Europe and who said that the Germans were "taking" Italy by colonization and trade. But the Italians were so kind and gentle they do not see it, she declared.

She spoke of a visit to Brussels, the city without slums, and the democracy of King Albert. Miss Sleeth declared she was ashamed of America's contribution to The Hague and was told that Americans made similar comment when they saw it.

COUNTY MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST

"DANCE OF THE FLUTES"

OR "DANSE ARABE"
(By Peter Ilich Tschaiakovsky)
The musical composer, was born in the Ural mining region 1840. In 1866 he became teacher of harmony at the Moscow conservatory. He visited America in 1891 and died at St. Petersburg in 1893. His best work is found in his "Manfred Romeo et Juliette" "The Tempest" "Francesca da Rimini" and his remarkable symphonies.

"DANSE ARABE"

Here the composer has caught the spirit of the desert and the oriental Arab in his dance. The accompaniment opens with a decided dance rhythm and the woodwind instruments give a suggestion of melody, then the strings break out in a weird wailing theme, which pauses from time to time while a tom-tom beats. The oriental melody passes from the strings to subdued woodwinds, the same melody being repeated over and over again. This sombre melody bespeaks all the vagueness of the far-stretching desert, the soft plod of camels, the sun-browned faces of the desert dwellers and the very mood of oriental indifference to strangers from the outside world.

Miss Sleeth admitted that she went to England prejudiced because of her school training, but that she came home with her mind changed.

"London was not beautiful," she said, "I had the feeling that the tourist meant nothing to the English; that England had a business and was attending to it."

She said the English were constantly serving tea and coffee, but that it was easily understood, because of their cool climate and the need of something to warm them up.

Traffic in London, she stated, was crowded but never confused, and the country is just as "on have read in English novels. The grass is the greenest of the green, she said, and you feel like you are walking on velvet carpet.

"In Italy," she commented, "you feel like the people are living in the ruins of a decadent civilization. In England you feel like the people are a great race with history and traditions back of them, and that they are living up to those traditions.

ALRIGHT TO MAKE SWEET APPLE CIDER

Products of Cider Press and Wine Press Contain Hidden Danger Under Dry Law

MUST NOT LET CIDER FERMENT

When it Ferments, the Owner is a Criminal, When Passes Hard Stage, he is Lawabiding

Indianapolis, Sept. 15.—(U.P.)—The products of the cider press and the wine press contain a hidden danger for their owners under Indiana's famous bone dry prohibition law.

It is alright to make sweet juices from grapes and apples. But the maker must beware that nature does not get in its work and ferment the cider and grape juice.

In that event he is subject to arrest and prosecution for manufacturing intoxicating liquor.

If the cider mill owner out of his highheartedness gives a jug of cider to a friend, it is best for him first to take the precaution of treating it with benzene of soda. Then it will stay sweet and with the law.

If it hardens, the gift may prove the undoing of the unwitting recipient.

Should dry aiders enter a home and find sweet grape juice the owner has not violated the law. Should the grape juice ferment to the point where it has more than one half of one per cent of wine it is up to the owner to prove he did not intend to make intoxicating liquor.

When the grape juice and cider are sweet, you're a law abiding citizen. When it ferments, you're a criminal. When it passes the hard stage and becomes vinegar, you are law abiding once more.

Why suffer for years with backache, nervousness, painful menses and other ailments common to women from early life to middle age, when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will bring relief? Take it when annoying symptoms first appear and avoid years of suffering.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over 200,000 replies were received, and 98 out of every 100 reported they were benefited by its use.

Another Indiana Message

Thomas H. Adams, grizzled warrior of many political battles and conflicts in the interests of civic righteousness, has let go another broadside in his newspaper, The Vincennes Morning Commercial, which he calls "A Second Indiana Message" and is a sequel to the "Indiana Message" which was printed April 26, last, and consisted of an expose of the activities of D. C. Stephenson, who is awaiting trial at Noblesville for the murder of Miss Madge Oberholzer.

Mr. Adams bases the second "message" on a statement by Joe Huffington of Evansville, made at a church picnic, to the effect that Stephenson was running the state government. Mr. Adams calls for specific cases. He refutes the charge by showing that Stephenson has been thwarted in his efforts to control state officers and patronage and that he has been thoroughly discredited.

"Stephenson tried to control the legislature," he points out. "We knew that and exposed it. Stephenson and his gang tried to raid all the departments, force the 'Ripper Bill' and card-index every job. They used the board of accounts department run by Orr to reflect on all official departments. The gang used Orr's office for headquarters during the legislature, and Mr. Huffington, until Stephenson's drunken revel in his mad and crazy flight from Indianapolis to Hammond was exposed to the light of day, not a Klan politician in Indiana raised a hand to stop Stephenson's revels or his bacchanalian drunken legislative spree at his mansion of sin and hell in Irvington."

Mr. Adams advises Mr. Huffington that he will have to make good his charges that "traitors who condone his (Stephenson's) acts still hold office," and he goes through the list of state officers, giving each a clean bill of health, in his own estimation. Mr. Adams is qualified to speak in this regard as he has devoted most of his time during and since the state legislature to investigating the ramifications of what he chooses to call "Stephensonism" in Indiana.

"Stephenson impudently assumed power," Mr. Adams points out. "He was not the accredited Klan head. He just took charge of people and brazenly gathered so-called Klansites about him that were crooks to help him do his crooked work. He planned and conspired to blackmail everybody, including the Klansites. He never followed the so-called Klan tenets. He just manufactured mischief and hell, and certain Klansites followed him because they enjoyed the same rascality."

He also charges that Stephenson's scheme to get numerous bills through the legislature for black-mailing purposes failed, but that during the legislature he lived a life of "eat, drink and make merry for tomorrow you may die." He had his mansion all cocked and primed for liquor parties, Mr. Adams writes, and a lot of the "boys" fell for his blandishments, for when there is "wine, woman and song," there are plenty of followers.

The evil done has wrought great wrong, Mr. Adams points out, but the blame can't be placed on the state departments because the raid for jobs was made on them. Some members of the legislature were badly influenced, he testifies, but not all, and "the gang couldn't touch the senate or legislature."

"The big infamy was local," Mr. Adams adds. "Right in Marion county Stephenson and his crowd run things. They are at it yet. They would have gotten the courts, too, if not rebuked."

But the end of the Stephenson menace is surely near. He has been so thoroughly discredited, even before being placed on trial, that it will be impossible for him to accumulate any following if he should go scot free.

"Lamed" to Death

Economy in legislative activities is just as important as in financial undertakings. For years the federal and state governments have been engaged in attempting to adjust and correct all the ills and woes of the world by legislative enactments. As a result we have been just about "lamed" to death.

Senator Curtis at Washington has announced that the primary attention of Congress will be given to tax reduction and he suggests between the lines to his fellow statesmen that they co-operate to the extent of themselves pigeon-holing foolish bills instead of compelling Congressional committees to do it. It would be well if the state legislative leaders followed this example. The Illinois Legislature has turned with the tide and enacted 56 less bills than were ground out at the session two years before. Other states have made similar records. Let the good work go on.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

A number of civil war veterans from this city and county attended the reunion of the Fifty second Indiana regiment in the court house in Indianapolis yesterday. The men from here who were members of the regiment are Melvin Brooks, Scott Conde, Col. E. H. Wolfe, Jabez Smith and Alfred Pearsey.

That there are more children in the public schools this year than there were last year or ever before for that matter, is the belief of Prof. J. H. Schell, superintendent of the public schools. The enrollment in the high school this year, totals one hundred and ninety eight students, while last year there were only one hundred and eighty five at the opening of the school year.

Harrie Jones drove in two races at the State fair yesterday, winning one race with ease and taking third money in the other event. He drove Joe Lederer, a bay horse to first money in the 2:25 pace, winning in three straight heats in good time.

Joe Ong of Philadelphia, Pa., who is spending a two month's vacation with his parents in Columbus, returned to that city this afternoon after a few days' visit with friends here, where he formerly lived. Mr. Ong was graduated from the local high school, later graduated in electrical engineering at Purdue University.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aldridge have returned to their home in Chicago after a visit with the former's brother, A. L. Aldridge and family in Perkins street.

George and Ora Gray attended the state fair in Indianapolis yesterday and saw "Way Down East" at the Murat theatre last night.

Miss Alice Winslip will go to Bloomington Monday to enter Indiana University, after spending the summer vacation with home folks here.

The marriage of Miss Maude Beatrice Fargo, of Portland, Oregon, formerly of this city, and Dr. Lowell M. Green of this city, will take place at the Scruggs Memorial Methodist church in St. Louis tonight at eight o'clock. After the ceremony, Dr. and Mrs. Green will leave for this city where they have a home already furnished in East Sixth street.

Mrs. Jabez Smith entertained a number of her friends yesterday afternoon at her home in West Third street. Light refreshments were served. The guests were Mrs. Meta Carr, Mrs. Richard Beale, Mrs. Fanny Havens, Mrs. Ezekiel Eriest and the Misses Nelle Maure, Bailey and Murphy.

How About the Winning Habit?

(Indianapolis News.)

Young La Follete, candidate for Senator from Wisconsin comes from good running and fighting stock, from which he seems to have inherited the running habit.

Stewart Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NRA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — The present Senate is so evenly divided that the outcome of the Brookhart-Steck contest for one of the Iowa seats has a lot more importance than such a fight ordinarily has, and they always are pretty important.

Originally Brookhart was supposed to have won by a small majority. The Senate committee's report, recently failed, wiped out this margin and now, too, giving Steck a major advantage than Brookhart was thought to have had.

However, this is on the basis of uncontested ballots. There are enough contested ones either to increase Steck's lead or to throw victory Brookhart's way again, depending on how they're counted.

It will be up to the Senate, when Congress reconvenes, to decide about the contested votes. What it does decide will determine whether Smith W. Brookhart or Daniel F. Steck shall represent Iowa in the upper house of the Congress.

A few commentators have been so unimpressed as to suggest that it's a matter for the "house" of the Iowa's ballots, not the Senate, to settle.

Ah, but the controversy has passed out of the Iowa's hands now and into the Senate's. Little enough the Iowans will have to say about it hereafter.

THE Senate, then, will choose between Brookhart and Steck. Normally the Republicans would vote for the former, the Democrats for the latter, but this contest is peculiar.

Nominally a Republican, Brookhart was so unmanageable in the last Congress that the regular Republicans would prefer the Democrat, Steck—unless Brookhart means to "be good" in future.

Some say he does, if the Republicans will vote to seat him. Doubtless they will, assuming he's sane. It wasn't because they liked Steck, it was because they hated Brookhart's insubordination, that there was any talk of Republican support of the former.

MOVIE NOTES

"Wings of Youth," Castle

A galaxy of film celebrities are featured in "Wings of Youth," the William Fox film which opens a two day engagement at the Castle theatre today. Headed by Madge Bellamy, beautiful star of "The Iron Horse," and Ethel Clayton, one of the most famed of screen luminaries, the case of the Emmett Flynn production presents an imposing array of stars. Freeman Wood, Robert Cain, Katherine Perry, Marian Harlan and George Stewart are seen in prominent character delineations.

"Wings of Youth" tells a striking story of a mother's love for her daughters, long dormant because of her lack of interest in their every day lives. The mother's awakening is poignant in appeal and her method of whisking her erring girls from the whirl of the bright lights makes the production most interesting and unusual.

Alma Rubens at Princess

"Gerald Cranston's Lady," a film version of the popular novel by the noted English author, Gilbert Frankau, which opened at the Princess theatre last night, is a striking example of effort picture producers are making to adhere rigidly to the original story in their screen translations.

Emmett Flynn, known for his direction of "A Connecticut Yankee at King Arthur's Court," did a fine bit of work with "Gerald Cranston's Lady." Every possible artistic resource at the command of a motion picture director has exerted its influence on this Fox production. Much credit must be given to Edmund Gouling, for his handling of the scenario which in the opinion of this reviewer, deserves a perfect scoring.

Alma Rubens in the title role portrays the English noble lady with finesse and understanding, and James Kirkwood as the ambitious, but honorable, financier is an outstanding character. Marguerite De La Motte and Walter McGrail offer excellent color to the distinguished cast which includes such other names as Richard Headrick, Templar Saxe, Lucien Littlefield, and J. Farrell MacDonald.

DISABLED VETS ARE BENEFITTED

Report Submitted to American Legion, Shows 40,000 Ex-Soldiers Taken Care of by Government

COMPENSATION BILL AIDS

Veterans Have Received Increases in Compensation, as Well as Hospital Treatments

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 15—(U.S.)—Upwards of forty thousand disabled American veterans of the World war have benefitted during the past year to the extent of nearly $16,500,000 from the liberal provisions of the Reed Johnson compensation bill and its amendments.

This was revealed today in a report received by James F. Barton, national adjutant of the American Legion, from Watson Miller, chairman of the Legion's National Rehabilitation committee.

The report is to be submitted at the national convention of the Legion in Omaha next month.

The veterans who have received increases in compensation under the new legislation include shell-shocked, tuberculous, blind and totally deaf men and women.

More than ten thousand shell-shocked veterans received increases of four million five hundred thousand dollars under the extension of the period for presumptive service connection on mental diseases.

Under a similar extension for tuberculous veterans, 10,281 benefitted nearly eight million; five hundred thousand dollars.

Increased dependency pay for death or disability totaled nearly one million dollars.

Liberal increases were also received by hundreds of blind, deaf and totally disabled veterans.

A review of all old cases disallowed under previous laws is still not half completed and the full benefits of the Reed-Johnson bill have not been felt.

The review is progressing at the rate of about seven hundred cases a day.

Columbus, Ind., Sept. 15—(U.S.)—Bartholomew county is assured of a county fair and race meet next year. The county council appropriated $2,500 to the fair and racing association to help clear it of debt.

They charged their financial plight was directly due to the order of the county prosecutor banning betting on the races.

Football Machines in Western Conference Ready to Start Athletes For Fall Season

FIRST GAME IN 3 WEEKS

Practices Twice a Day Will be Common in West Schools—All Schools Are Encouraged

Chicago, Sept. 15—Western conference football machines groaned into action today as the ten member universities started conditioning 750 athletes for the fall season. Notre Dame University also called out the pick of its famous "hall teams" for the first varsity practice.

Dr. Clarence T. Spears, formerly of West Virginia University took charge at Minnesota; George Little became the mentor at Wisconsin, and Jack Ryan started his work as assistant to Glenn Thistlewaite, at Northwestern in the only coaching staff changes of importance.

With opening games at most institutions but three weeks distant, the football coaches have their work cut out for them and the practice of having two sessions a day with the candidates will rule in most schools.

Encouraging advance reports came from all of the conference schools. Illinois, Ohio State, Michigan, Chicago and Iowa expect good teams. Improved strength is looked for by Northwestern, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Purdue and Indiana are hoping the increase in high school elevens in the Hoosier state during the last three years will send more ripening material to them and result in a boost in power.

The weather changed from sizzling heat to a brisk coolness just in time for the conference practice season.

May End Ruth's Career

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 14—When Jack Dempsey was introduced recently at the dedication of a new boxing club in Los Angeles, he was greeted with hisses and boos. The greeting awakened him to the fact that the public was sour on him and that a king is just as open to the raspberry as a bum.

When Babe Ruth was suspended and fined $5,000 by the management of the New York Yankees he couldn't find a single sympathizer. Even his wife would not defend him. He didn't get the vocal razz that Dempsey received but he might have under similar conditions.

Ruth had more of a personal following than the world's heavyweight champion but he didn't have one left when the long suffering little flagman booted him off the team and sent him home from St. Louis.

Those of his admirers who still have a word for him hope he will take a lesson from his latest experience in "contesting authority" but it is unlikely that he will. He has survived experiences in the past, and forgot them just as soon as he was out of them.

The fine of $5,000 and the loss of $7,500 in salary, ought to wake up the big fellow but it is unlikely that he will be awakened until it is too late. He never has realized the value of money. He has been broke before and didn't learn his lesson. He worried very little because he could always draw on his salary in advance, but he is getting to the point now where he can't do that.

Many smart baseball men figure that he is through now and it is quite certain that his salary will be cut in two this winter. His $52,000 a year contract has another year to run, but those baseball contracts are no protection to a player.

The Babe was given to understand shortly after he left the hospital in the spring that his superiors felt that he was responsible for his own condition and that his loose way of living had wrecked himself and wrecked the club. He was told that he wasn't even a $5,000 ball player and if he didn't get hold of himself he would be paid in the future just what he was worth.

He had a temporary spell of serious thinking and told his friends on the team that he was going to spend the winter in the Canadian woods and that he would come back next spring in perfect condition.

It is doubtful that he can ever get himself into perfect condition and it is quite certain that he never will be the hitter that he once was. Players on the team have expressed the opinion that his poor batting this season has been the result of eye trouble, and one of them told a friend he would be willing to bet that the Babe would not be able to play at all next season.

In this crisis the outlook for the Babe is not good. He must have passed at least $500,000 through his hands in the last five years. The only labor involved in attending to his finances was in finding the time and the places to spend the money. He bet now that he hasn't a cent but his salary. He has cultivated high ways of living and when he is reduced to the pay of an average player he will have a painful experience.

He has not provided for the future and, if he gets out of baseball broke his only source of revenue will be the rolling cigars, a trade that he picked up at school, or turning into a chauffeur, an art that he picked up when he got into the big money.

Track Ace

Germany seems to be coming to the front in athletics. Her latest star in track and field activities is "Dutch" Cortis. He's a sprinter and recently defeated Houben in the 100-yard and 100-meter dashes. It will be recalled that it was Houben who took Charley Paddock's measure across the pond a short time ago.

2 KILLED IN PISTOL FIGHT

Why the Price of Gasoline Is So Low

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) appreciates fully that the public concerns itself more when the price of gasoline is high than when it is low. But, as it is a policy of this Company to acquaint the public with all sides of the gasoline question, we point out the underlying reasons for the recent decline in prices.

For the third time in as many years, the late summer has seen a flush production of crude oil. These new sources of crude have come in, and been converted into gasoline, at a time when refiners expected to move the gasoline stocks in storage to meet the heavy demands of the summer motoring season.

Much of this excess gasoline was produced in California and is being shipped at distress prices to the Atlantic seaboard via the Panama Canal at a transportation cost less than that of shipping by rail from Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas.

The Eastern buyers of California gasoline have extended their trading area westward and crowded in on the normal market of the refiners of the Middle West.

Many refiners operating on borrowed capital were refused to sell their stock of gasoline at whatever prices they could get, to meet the loans as they came due.

The net result of this condition is that refiners throughout the Middle West are selling their gasoline stocks for less money than the actual cost of production.

Today the petroleum industry is facing a most serious crisis.

The stronger companies will survive; the weaker ones may be compelled to quit.

We trust that the public will view the situation at its true worth and realize that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—which operates 7 out of 500 refineries in the United States—is just as much a slave to the natural laws and the caprices of nature as is the refiner of small capacity.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is not in a position to throttle competition nor to control prices.

We submit, in passing, that the sound business health of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and its capacity to weather such a storm as exists now, is of vital interest to those whose welfare depends on an unfailing supply of petroleum products, whether nature frowns or smiles.

DIGGING FOR BOY BURIED BY LANDSLIDE

The steam shovel used to dig for the body of Thomas Zygiel, 14-yr.-old bo of Chicago, who was buried under tons of earth, when playing in a brick clay pit. The arrow points to the spot where the body was entombed under the sticky clay. A companion similarly caught was rescued by the fire department.

Keep Pimples away

WHY do you let those unsightly pimples, blackheads and blotches disfigure your skin and ruin your appearance? You can keep them away if you keep your system full of rich, red blood. And not only that, but the very texture of your skin will be soft and velvet like—and the coloring radiant as a rose.

It's all in the blood. And S. S. S. will help Nature keep your blood rich and red and pure.

Yes, you can keep pimples away, simply by taking S. S. S. That's a fact. The kind of red-blood-cells that S. S. S. helps Nature build makes your skin beautiful—clears it up just like it puts firm flesh on you—brings strength to weak, flabby muscles—gives you an appetite like you used to have and generates the energy and vitality of youth throughout your entire system. Just try it and see for yourself! All druggists sell S. S. S. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

Postoffice "Robbery" Finds
Aftermath in Divorce Court

Atwood, Ind., Sept. 15—(UP)—The "robbery" of the Atwood post-office has found an aftermath in divorce court.

Several months ago the town was aroused on a report that the post-office was being robbed. The sheriff entered the building and found Mrs. Emma Montel postmistress and Charles Miller.

Later William Montel, husband of the postmistress, clashed with Miller when he found him in company with his wife.

Montel is seeking a divorce on the grounds of infidelity and cruelty.

When you admire the handsome appearance of U.S. Royal Balloons—remember also they are True Low-Pressure Balloons

If you are one of the thousands of car owners who have been attracted by the handsome appearance of the all black U.S. Royal Balloons, it will please you to know this—

These tires hold their good looks during the full period of their long service life. They do not show finger marks, mud or grease stains.

The beauty of U. S. Royal Balloons is in addition to those characteristics which have made these tires famous. They are distinctive in being true Low-Pressure balloons.

Their construction and design positively avoid the necessity of over-inflating the tires to insure long service. You can run them at genuine low air pressures and get the comfort that balloon tires are intended to give.

Their "Low-Pressure Tread" is flat. It provides much greater area of road contact than a round tread, thereby distributing the weight evenly to every tread block. That is why the tread wears slowly and evenly.

The continuous flexing of a balloon tire on the road calls for great strength and flexibility of construction. Latex-treated Web Cord, the patented process developed and patented by the United States Rubber Company, meets this flexing perfectly and accounts for the exceptional mileage of U. S. Royal Balloons.

So U. S. Royal Balloons make a real contribution to the beauty and the comfort of the modern car. Start now enjoying the advantages of true Low-Pressure balloons.
